

Northwest Natural Horsemanship Center

The Northwest Natural Horsemanship Center, located in the foothills of the Cascade Mountains of Washington state, is an educational center dedicated to the study of natural horsemanship in all its forms. The curriculum is horse-centered and includes areas of study in equine training, husbandry, healthcare and therapy.

Our Programs

The Center conducts classes, lessons, workshops, clinics, camps and events for equestrians who wish to have a deep understanding of the horse and build a positive, willing partnership based on leadership, trust and mutual respect.

Learn more about the Center's learning programs and events at:

www.NWNHC.com

Personal Growth

The horse owner and enthusiast will find learning opportunities to advance their understanding and relationship with their horse, as well as the skills they need to ride confidently or participate in the discipline or activity of their choice.

Professional Development

Those who are studying to apply their knowledge as a teacher, trainer, facility manager or equine therapist can take advantage of internships, classes and workshops that broaden their understanding of natural methods.

Instructors

In addition to experienced staff instructors and trainers, the Center hosts Parelli Licensed Professionals and other certified clinicians and instructors.

Helping people find comfort and confidence
with their horse.

Northwest Natural Horsemanship Center
PO Box 884
Fall City, WA 98024
nwnhc@nwnhc.com 425.222.7911

Northwest Natural Horsemanship Center

www.NWNHC.com